Continuing Education Credits

MDs and DOs: The American College of Nutrition® (ACN) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians. ACN designates this educational activity for a maximum of 19 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation.

CNS® and RD: The Board for Certification of Nutrition SpecialistsSM authorizes up to 19 CNE credit hours for Certified Nutrition Specialists®. Continuing education (CPEU) credit hours, up to 19 hours, will be authorized by the Commission on Dietetic Registration for Registered Dietitians.

Nurses: For the purpose of recertification, the American Nurses Credentialing Center accepts AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ issued by organizations accredited by the ACCME. Most states' Board of Registered Nursing accept AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ as meeting continuing education requirements for license renewal. Nurses should check with their state board regarding use of CME credit.

PA: The American Academy of Physician Assistants accepts Category 1 credit from AMA Category 1 organizations accredited by the ACCME.

ACN Mission & Programs

Since 1959, the American College of Nutrition® (ACN) has been on a mission to advance nutrition science to prevent and treat disease.

We are the only society focused on Translational Nutrition, bridging research and clinical practice, through our

Journal of the American College of Nutrition (JACN) –

One of the top peer-reviewed nutrition science journals in the world, published bi-monthly for over 30 years.

Annual Conference – For over 50 years, the elite nutrition conference for researchers and clinicians. The College is ACCME accredited to grant CME.

Fellow of the American College of Nutrition (FACN) – The premier designation for clinical nutrition researchers.

Who Should Join the College

- Clinicians (physicians and all nutrition-related practitioners)
- Researchers and Academicians
- Students
- Individuals active or interested in the nutrition field

ACN membership is a hallmark of excellence among researchers and practitioners with an interest in nutrition science."

– Leo Galland, MD, FACN, FACP
